

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20549

Executive Registry

72-12873

November 1, 1982

Hon. William J. Casey, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission will soon celebrate its 50th Anniversary. As Vice-Chairman of the SEC's 50th Anniversary Committee, I am writing to elicit your support to have a stamp issued commemorating the importance of the SEC to our country's economic prosperity.

Since August, 1979, when the Commission first proposed to the Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee that "the strongest capital markets in the world" be considered as the stamp's theme, the Committee has taken no action on the proposal, even though it has been considered at every subsequent Committee meeting. You could assist in our efforts to focus the Post Office's attention on the merits of our proposal by writing to the Postmaster General, who oversees the Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee:

Honorable William F. Bolger
Postmaster General
Washington, D.C. 20260-0010.

If you decide to support this endeavor, I would appreciate your forwarding a copy of your letter to my attention so I can include it in another presentation we will make to the Advisory Committee. We will keep you apprised of our plans regarding the anniversary, but in the meanwhile please don't make any other advance commitments for Monday, July 2, 1984, the day we intend to celebrate the Commission's 50th Anniversary.

Thank you for considering this matter.

Sincerely,

George G. Kundahl
Executive Director

L-265

